I AM HANDY

Projectionist

As a projectionist, you are the one who starts the film and technically supports the Q&A's where necessary. For example, you ensure that the microphones work properly and are switched on at the right times. Projectionists are indispensable for Go Short; without them we wouldn't be able to show films. And of course, without films, there is no Go Short. Over the years a solid team has executed this role, but we are keen to expand this group with other (experienced) projectionists. If you find it interesting to strengthen this team, sign up!

Experience is not required; we offer instructions and a mandatory training prior to Go Short.

You:

- Have technical knowledge or are able to learn fast
- Are responsible
- Have strong communication skills

Working hours: during the festival, between 08:30 and 00:00.

Site Crew

Within the production team there is room for different types of volunteers. Are you a go-getter who knows how to handle things and who does not shy away from working up a sweat? Are you curious about what needs to be done to build a festival? Not afraid to roll up your sleeves and set up different locations? Then you are what we are looking for during the construction and dismantling of the festival, as well as during the festival for a wide range of tasks. Even if you have two left hands and two right feet, but like to work hard, we are looking for you! In the Production team you learn to work together, and you develop an eye for detail. You can see where work is necessary and develop a strong problem-solving capacity. By working with the production team, you get a unique look behind the scenes of a festival like Go Short.

You:

- Are a hard worker
- Aren't afraid to work up a sweat
- Have experience in construction work at festivals or have technical knowledge (not required)

Please note that for this function it is important that you are available the days before and/or after the festival. Indicate in the remarks box on the application form if you have any extra technical experience.

Working hours: Especially during the opening and dismantling. The construction is from March 28th until April 1st, the dismantling starts on April 6th and goes on until April 7th. Do you also want to volunteer during the festival? You are more than welcome to sign up for other functions!
